FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASEalphabeePRO Launches an Education and Training Platform with a broad range of Training Courses Based on the Principles of Applied Behaviour Analysis (ABA)

Toronto, Ontario – 04-19-2021- AlphaBee is excited to introduce alphabeePRO, a recently launched education and training platform. Along with a newly launched website, alphabeepro.com is designed to provide a range of online training courses created for diverse learning interests: clinicians, front-line workers, and families/caregivers. Course topics are based on the principles of Applied Behaviour Analysis (ABA) as well as related disciplines and are delivered through accessible online sessions that meet the unique availability and needs of different learners. alphabeePRO is committed to providing in-person training options when it is safe to do so.

As a company committed to advanced clinical practices, AlphaBee has over 16 years of learning, teaching, and growing to support families of children with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) and other developmental exceptionalities. Committed to innovation, alphabeePRO will offer practical evidence-based strategies to achieve measurable outcomes in communication, social engagement, behavioural management, and school readiness. Courses range from 1-hour topic review, offered some at no cost, conferences with internationally recognized presenters, to a 40-hour RBT (Registered Behaviour Technician) course. Whether you're a parent looking to support your child, an ABA professional in need of CEU's, or an individual in the community seeking further education and professional growth, alphabeePRO will support your learning goals.
